

Hello,

Is 2011 your year to get organized? Did you make a New Year resolution to get organized? Have you already broken that resolution and your piles seem to be higher with being just one month into the New Year? Plus to top it off, did you know that January was National GO (Get Organized) Month?

I know, even for myself, that January can sometimes seem to be the month just to get back to the normal routine after the holidays. And getting organized sometimes can't even start in January! So, my point is that you do not need to worry that January has already passed, that February has suddenly arrived and that at least one of your New Year resolutions has already gone out the window. But to embrace February and your 2011 organization resolution with a positive approach. Your 2011 New Year resolution was to get organized, it didn't say to do it in the first 31 days. So, don't worry, don't freak out, you still have time to GET ORGANIZED IN 2011.

Thank you,

I recently received the latest edition of The Organized & Inspired Scrapbooker. I am very excited to fresh up my skills and pass on the education to my Scrapbooking and Photo clients. By just glancing through the book I can already see some great organization ideas and inspiring advice for scrapbooking and photo projects. If 2011 is your year to get your photos and/or scrapbook supplies in order and organized then this book will help you greatly. For further assistance on scrapbooking and photos please feel free to contact me.
